

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) of 1974, also known as the Buckley Amendment, is a federal law that protects the privacy of a student's educational record. FERPA applies to all educational institutions receiving funds from the United States Department of Education, from kindergarten through university level.

As part of University Compliance's FERPA campaign, all University staff that have access to student records are required to complete the online FERPA basic course. Once you complete the course, you will receive a completion certificate that you will present to the faculty you're working with.

Below are instructions to self-enroll for the course.

1. Visit <https://develop.fiu.edu/browse/compliance>

Office of University Compliance & Integrity

The building access process at FIU is an important part of keeping FIU safe and secure. Increase your awareness of FIU's Access Control For University Buildings and Facilities policies by completing this policy acknowledgement.

develop.fiu.edu

2. Find the FERPA Basics Course from the selections available.
3. Click on the course.
4. Click Enroll.
5. You have an existing FIU account, so please click on Sign in here (as seen in the image below).

FIU University Compliance and Integrity

FERPA Basics
Self-paced Course

Have an existing FIU account? Sign in here

Full Name

Email

☐ I agree to the Acceptable Use Policy and acknowledge the Privacy Policy.

☐ I'm not a robot

Enroll in Course

TA Orientation—Important Policies

6. Please pick the first Login box “FIU Account” (see image below).

